

Information for Authors

Aims and Scope: The Iranian Journal of Clinical Infectious Diseases (IJCID) is a peer-reviewed multi-disciplinary medical publication, scheduled to appear quarterly serving as a means for scientific information exchange in international medical forum. The journal particularly welcomes contributions relevant to the Middle-East region and publishes biomedical experiences and clinical investigations on prevalent infectious diseases in the region as well as analyses of factors that may modulate the incidence, course, and management of infectious diseases and pertinent medical problems in the Middle East..

Peer-Review System of IJCID: Manuscripts are first reviewed by the editorial board to ensure their appropriateness relevant to the framework of the journal. Manuscripts are also excluded by the editors if there are major faults in the methodology of research. Peer-reviews are handled anonymously and comments are discussed in weekly editorial sessions. Reviews are then sent to the corresponding authors for proposed modifications and the new version of the manuscript would be peer-reviewed for a second time by one or two reviewers. Finally the editorial board will decide to accept or reject an article.

Submission: Manuscripts can be submitted in English or Persian. Authors will be asked to declare that their manuscripts are exclusively submitted to IJCID, have not been previously published elsewhere (except in the form of an abstract or as part of a published lecture, review or thesis), and are not under consideration by another journal. The transmittal letter should designate one author as correspondent and all other authors should personally sign the submission cover letter. Manuscripts should be prepared in accordance with the “Uniform Requirements for Manuscripts Submission to Biomedical Journals” proclaimed by the International Committee of Medical Journal Editors. Authors are responsible for all statements made in their work. The right is reserved to incorporate any changes deemed necessary by the editorial board to make contributions harmonize with the editorial standards of the journal. Accepted manuscripts become the property of IJCID. One original along with two copies of the manuscript should be submitted to:

Masoud Mardani MD, Editor in Chief.

Iranian Journal of Clinical Infectious Diseases, Infectious Diseases and Tropical Medicine
Research Centre, 7th floor, Faculty of Medicine, Shaheed Beheshti University of Medical Sciences, Tabnak Avenue, Evin, Tehran, Iran.

The authors may propose three potential reviewers in the filed of the study; however, their endorsement depends on the editorial decision.

Electronic Submission: Once the article is accepted for submission, the manuscript should be e-mailed or saved on a floppy diskette accompanied by a matched hard copy. It should be submitted on double/high density 31/2 diskette formatted with an IBM-compatible machine. Manuscript should be in Microsoft Word 1997 or later format. Figures should either be produced by Microsoft Excel 1997 or the original high resolution hard copies must be sent. The entire article should be submitted as a single file. Do not insert tables in references. Write on the disk the software package used and the name of the authors

Structure of Articles: Text of the Original Articles should include title page, abstract, keywords, introduction, patients and methods, results, discussion, acknowledgment, conflict of interest, references, tables, figures, and legends, enumerated from the title page. The length of the text should not exceed 4500 words excluding the references. Randomized Controlled Trials should include patients' informed consent form and the bioethics committee approval of the corresponding university. Review Articles are solicited by the editor, but IJCID will also accept submitted reviews. The authors of review articles are invited to contact the Editorial Office before preparing a review article for IJCID. Both solicited and unsolicited review articles undergo peer-review and editorial processing as original papers. Case Reports, Brief Reports and Photo quizzes should be limited to 2000 words. Case reports should include abstract, keywords, case presentation, discussion, acknowledgment, references, and 1 – 4 figures. Necessary documentations of the case(s) like pathology reports, laboratory test reports, and imagings should be included in the submission package. Brief reports contain less scientific data than the original articles and should not have more than one figure and/or table.

Title Page should include title, author(s) (including first name, highest academic degree, department affiliation, and institution), running head (≤ 50 characters, including spaces), name and address of author (e-mail, Telephone and Fax) to whom correspondence and reprint requests should be addressed.

Information for Authors

Abstract should include the background/objective, material and methods, results, and conclusion sections separately. Abstract fragmenting is not necessary for Case Reports and photo quizzes. Review Articles and Brief Reports do not have an abstract in IJCID. Nevertheless, the length of an abstract should not exceed 150 words.

Keywords: For indexing purposes, each submitted article should include three to five keywords chosen from the Medical Subject Headings (MeSH).

References: The authors are responsible for the accuracy of the bibliographic information. References must be numbered consecutively in order of citation in the text. Mark reference citations by superscript Arabic numbers. Personal communications and unpublished data including manuscripts submitted but not yet accepted for publication should not be used as a reference; nonetheless, they may be placed in parentheses in the text. Periodical titles should be abbreviated according to the Index Medicus. Print surnames and initials of all authors when there are six or less. In the case of seven or more authors, the names of the first six authors followed by et al should be listed. Listed below, are references to a journal, a chapter in a book, and a book, respectively, in correct style:

1 Comroe JH, Long TV, Sort AJ. The lung clinical physiology and pulmonary function tests. Chest. 1989; 65: 20 – 2.

2 Schiebler GL, van Mierop LHS, Krovetz LJ. Diseases of the tricuspid valve. In: Moss AJ, Adams F, eds. Heart Disease in Infants, Children, and Adolescents. 2nd ed. Baltimore: Williams and Wilkins;1988:134 -9.

3 Guyton AC. Textbook of Medical Physiology. 8th ed. Philadelphia: WB Saunders; 1996.

Tables: Enumerate tables with Arabic numerals. They should be self-explanatory, clearly arranged, and supplemental to the text. Tables should provide easier understanding and not duplicate information already included in the text or figures.

Figures should be utilized only if they augment comprehension of the text. Drawings and graphs should be professionally prepared in deep-black and submitted as glossy, black-and-white clean photostats. Professionally designed computer-generated graphs (grayscale or color) with a minimum of 300 dpi laser printer output are also acceptable. Each figure should have a label on the back, listing the figure number, title of manuscript, first author, and an arrow indicating the top. Illustrations should be numbered as cited in the sequential order in the text, and each should have a legend on a separate sheet. Color photographs are welcome at no extra charge.

Conflict of Interest: This is designed to identify any potential financial conflicts of interest before the review process begins. The following would generally be regarded as potential conflicts of interest:

1. Direct financial payment to an author for the research or manuscript production by the sponsor of a product or service evaluated in an article.
2. Ownership of shares by an author in the company sponsoring a product service evaluated in an article (or in a company sponsoring a competing product).
3. Personal consultancies with companies or other organizations with a financial interest in the promotion of particular health care products and services.

Conflict of interests should be declared with regard to the specific paper under consideration. Any declaration will be considered more carefully in the case of papers involving empirical evaluation of products and services. For the majority of papers, which are of a general theoretical or applied nature, conflict of interest is unlikely to be an issue.

Randomized Controlled Trials should include patients' informed consent form (patients data would be secret) and the bioethics committee approval of the corresponding university.

All authors will be supplied by reprints per request. Meanwhile, the editorial office will warmly welcome comments in order to promote their activity.
